

Missing Punctuation Key

Directions: Read each sentence. Write the missing punctuation marks in the correct places in the sentences. If a comma is used, write the matching letter for the comma rule on the line at the end of the sentence.

Question Mark
Period

Comma Rules
A. Between a city and state
B. In a date
C. Between items in a series
D. In addresses
E. Before or after a quote
F. In a compound sentence
G. After an opening phrase of a sentence

Quotation Marks
Comma

1. Good citizens are honest, helpful, and care about others.   C
2. “Ben is our class good citizen for this month,” says Anna.   E
3. I was voted good citizen on March 11, 2003.   B
4. Anna was our class good citizen for January, and she was the good citizen for the whole school that month.   F
5. We cheered, “Go Anna,” when she was named good citizen for the school.   E
6. Would you like to be our class good citizen for this month?
7. As a matter of fact, being voted as the class good citizen is an honor.   G
8. You can vote for me for good citizen by sending your ballot to 1131 Balboa Avenue, Southport, Florida.   D then A